

Doylestown Township Municipal Authority (DTMA)
Update on Actions being taken regarding the Cross Keys Well Contamination

Upon notification from US EPA establishing a new health advisory allowance of 0.070 parts per trillion (ppt), the DTMA immediately closed the public well at Cross Key. Keep in mind the PFCs are still an unregulated contaminant as seen in the eyes of our Permititor (DEP). Further actions taken by the DTMA:

1. The DTMA at their June 16, 2016 meeting announced staff would sample and test for PFCs at their five public wells located within the one mile cone of influence of the Cross Keys Well and would test all other authority public wells, outside the one mile cone of influence, every six months in order to assure its water customers have a safe water supply.

2. The DTMA also announced they are considering establishing a new source of supply for the Cross Keys area and are actively searching for a location to extend a water main to the Cross Keys area in order to assure its customers a safe water supply is being served.
